Sponsorship Opportunities

QuahogCon is a small regional conference for the hacker culture in all forms: Hardware, Software, Security, Social, Artistic, Eco Hacking and Zero Impact Living. We'll have two tracks: one for Information Security and one for Maker Culture. This blend of topics will bring together an interesting group of attendees with diverse ideas about how to make technology better and how technology can better our lives. Whatever the focus, QuahogCon aims to promote positive new uses for technology in our world.

While QuahogCon is primarily funded through registration fees, some forward thinking organizations that understand the importance of supporting growth in emerging technology fields will find that we offer many unique, exciting and, most importantly, cost effective ways to support the event while receiving a significant return on investment through our sponsorship program.

Besides traditional sponsorship through financial support, we also consider services and products given to the event equivalent to the dollar value that service or product would cost us to procure. Examples include books and prizes. If you have a product or service you believe would be of interest to our participants, please contact us to discuss the possibilities.
